Email Classification Using Natural Language Processing

Andrew Ferreira, Michael VanDusen

January 21, 2022

Project

The objective of this project is to help a person to classify an income email. We will use different datasets with a similar data structure to create the data pipeline, which can be applied to different purposes later.